Christmas Leftovers

by Jim Mohan

Christmas 1981 is past. Stockings have been taken down from the fireplace. Ornaments, one by one, have been removed from the tree and carefully packed away. The tree itself has been moved from a place of honor in the home to a lonely existence at the front curb. The last of the turkey has been eaten and the final Christmas story has been told.

Well, not quite. Just like that one Christmas ornament you always find after all the others have been put up, it seems there are a few Christmas stories yet to be recounted. There are two stories to be exact and both have the proper elements that make up any good Christmas tale - generosity and goodwill. Each tells the story of an Aerospace Center employee, who share something besides a common workplace. You see, both men believe in Santa Claus.

Yes, Dale Dase, DASC, believes in Santa Claus, not the fellow in the white beard and red suit but the real Santa Claus—the Spirit of love and giving that we feel during the Christmas season.

Dale's story begins like many old fashioned Christmas stories. A man wanted to do a good deed during the Christmas season to help someone. The man was Timothy Wrenn, the general manager of C-Phone, Inc., a company that manufactures telecommunication devices for the deaf and hearing impaired. Wrenn had read in the Post-Dispatch about the 100 neediest cases program, which aids those in the community at Christmastime. It was his idea to donate a telecommunication device, known as a Pocket Phone II, to the Post-Dispatch sponsored program.

and had little hope of having his wish come true. But because of one man's good heart, another man's wishes come true. And you say there is no Santa Claus. Dale Dase knows there is.

It's probably not at all unusual that R. F. 'Chief Lou' Lozano, LOSMSB, believes in Santa Claus. That's because 'Chief Lou' is Santa Claus. If you don't believe me, all you have to do is ask hundreds of children in South St. Louis, they'll tell you.

Each year 'Chief Lou' and a couple of his friends get together before Christmas and start in motion a special project called 'Operation St. Nick'. Through their efforts and the generosity of veteran, civic and military groups, 'Operation St. Nick' was able to raise almost $1,300 this year. A

The locomotive, a replica of a turn-of-the-century steam engine made nine stops on the southside, visiting hundreds of good little girls and boys.

But operation St. Nick's good work did not stop there. Santa Lou's locomotive had a few more stops to make. One was at the Salvation Army's Tree of Lights where Lou and his elves dropped $100 in the bucket to aid the Home for Abused and Neglected Children. Next, was a stop at the Family Care Center to drop off five walker canes for the elderly-a gift

2nd Annual Center Picnic Planned

Plans are currently underway for the second annual Aerospace Center Picnic. The picnic, a family affair, will be held Saturday, June 12, from 9:00 a.m. till 11:00 p.m. It is being sponsored jointly by the Civilian Welfare Council and the Sports and Recreation Council.

Last year's event was a "huge success" according to a picnic organizer. Approximately 1,000 Aerospace employees and their family and friends attended the 1981 Center picnic.

The Civilian Welfare Council is presently soliciting support from other organizations at the Center. Groups interested in participating in this year's picnic with a booth or display should contact a member of the Civilian Welfare Council. Priority will be given to organizations that participated in last year's event.

Picnic organizers are also seeking individuals or groups interested in entertaining (such as clowns, musicians, singers, bands, etc.) to perform during the day.

Those with questions or suggestions, or anyone wishing to participate in this year's picnic should contact Civilian Welfare Council chairperson, Paulette Martin at ext. 8309.

EEO Award Nominees

Two employees, Thomas E. Deem and Kennard O. Whitfield, have been nominated by the Aerospace Center for the Fourth Annual St. Louis Metropolitan Equal Employment Opportunity Award.

The award is presented to recognize significant achievements by persons and agencies in the metropolitan area.

Both employees were nominated in the manager/supervisor category. Deem was cited for his achievement of an outstanding record of equal employment accomplishment within his sphere of influence as a branch chief. Kennard Whitfield was cited for his excellent performance in his federal career and in particular the results he has achieved in his capacity as chairman of the American Geophysical Union's subcommittee on minorities since its inception in 1973.

The award winners will be announced during the Fourth Annual EEO Awards/Luncheon Program on Jan. 15. The program will be held at the Radisson Hotel in St. Louis and will be in conjunction with commemoration of the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Keynote speaker for the occasion will be Gwen Giles, assessor of the City of St. Louis.

Dispatch sponsored program.

The Pocket Phone II allows hearing-impaired individuals to communicate with other individuals with the same device over the telephone by typing their conversations back and forth.

But when Mrs. Joan Sisco, the office manager of C-Phone, Inc., called the Post-Dispatch to make the donation, she was told none of the individuals in the 100 neediest cases program needed the device.

The story did not end there, however. Like all good tales it has a plot twist—and a happy ending.

The person at the Post-Dispatch told Mrs. Sisco that they would try to contact the paper's Christmas Bureau to see if they could find someone who would need the device. When the Bureau contacted the St. Louis Hearing Center, an individual at the Center immediately had a person in mind who could use the device.

One of the students at the Hearing Center was really interested in having the device, but because of the expense he could not afford to own one. As you might have guessed the individual was Dale Dase, who is hearing-impaired.

Wrenn decided that Dale was the person he was looking for.

So shortly after Christmas, Wrenn and Mr. Sisco came to the Aerospace Center to present the Pocket Phone II to Dale. For Dale it was a Christmas wish come true.

So there you have it. A man, full of goodwill, wanted to do a good deed at Christmas time. Another man could only wish for something raise almost $1,300 this year. A portion of the money was used to purchase Christmas stockings and the goodies to stuff them.

This year 'Operation St. Nick' filled over 300 stockings with toys, fruits, nuts and candy. The list of toys included stuffed animals, dolls, wooden toys and 300 hand-made snowmen. The stockings were given out at schools in the Carondelet area.

When the big day for the giveaway arrived, the jolly man in the red suit and white whiskers showed up in his distinctive 'Operation St. Nick' mode of transportation. Not his usual sled but a train. Well, not a whole train, but the locomotive from the 40/8, an American Legion honor society.

walker canes for the elderly—a gift from an anonymous donor. The final stop was to make a donation to the 40/8 Children Welfare Fund.

Operation St. Nick started nine years ago. Chief Lou and a few of his friends wanted to do something special for Christmas and they came up with the idea to dress up as Santa Claus and give out candy to children. From there it has blossomed to the full fledged project it is today.

For now Operation St. Nick is a spirit of Christmas passed. But Santa Lou and his friends are looking ahead to Christmas 1982. It takes Santa a whole year to get ready for Christmas and Chief Lou is Santa Claus, isn't he?

Topic of Society Meet

The exploration of space as accomplished by the various NASA missions will be the subject of a special meeting of the professional societies associated with the Aerospace Center. The meeting, to be held Feb. 10, is being sponsored by the American Society of Photogrammetry, the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping and the American Geophysical Union.

Featured speaker for the event will be Walter Scott, Jr., a member of the NASA speaker's bureau and an aerospace engineer in the Mission Planning and Analysis Division. Additionally the societies are attempting to obtain one of the female astronauts to discuss the astronaut view of the shuttle missions.

The meeting will be held at the Junior League of St. Louis located near the Westroads Shopping Center. Price for the dinner and program will be $12.00 per person with tickets available on a first come basis. Seating capacity will be limited to 250. The meeting is open to members of the societies and those in the public sector interested in the program topics.

Additional information can be obtained by Brenda Ropac, ext. 4426.

Personnel Moves

Recent announcements of key personnel moves indicate that Arnold Trachsel of DMA headquarters will come to St. Louis to the position now held by Jim Nelson in PR. Nelson, as announced in the last issue of the Orientor, is scheduled to move to PP. In another Center move, Earl Phillips will move to the GM-14 position in PPGD formerly occupied by Robert Lewis.

ACS Luncheon Feb. 10

The Association of Aerospace Charting Seniors (ACS) will hold their bi-monthly meeting Wednesday, Feb. 10 at Grant's Cabin on Watson Road. Lunch will begin with a cash bar at 11:30 a.m. followed by lunch at 12:30 p.m.

Entrees include swiss steak and veal parmigian. Price is $5.50 per person.

Checks should be sent by Feb. 6 to Aerospace Charting Seniors, P. O. Box 8823, St. Louis, Missouri 63102. Specify choice of entree with check.

Top Honors for Williams

Honored with the Presidential Rank Award of Meritorious Executive in a recent government-wide ceremony held at the State Department was Owen W. Williams (center), deputy, director for Management and Technology, of the DMA. Presenting the citation were David O. Cooke, deputy assistant secretary of Defense for Administration (left) and Donald J. Devine, director, U. S. Office of Personnel Management. Williams was also honored recently at a Department of Defense ceremony for his work in advancing the employment of women. He was one of four recipients from DoD to receive a plaque at a Department of Defense Forum on Women's Issues.

Men's Basketball

The DMAAC Men's Basketball League started the new year with a bang as the One on Ones defeated the defending champion Fastbreaks, 48-46. The Fastbreaks had a chance to tie the score with three seconds left, but an excellent One on Ones defense shut down the last second shot. Robert Gully and Larry Hudson had 12 points each to pace a hot-shooting One on Ones team. Robert Bryan scored 14 points for the Fastbreaks.

The new year also started off defeated the Bruins, 32-29 as Tom Dufford and Mike Coulson scored 7 points each for the Helicopters. Stan Allen paced the Bruin attack with 10 points.

Arsenal Co-ed Volleyball

The 1981 Arsenal Co-Ed Volleyball Classic was won by the Setup-Knockers coached by Mike Kazmaier. The Setup-Knockers started the tournament with a come from behind victory over the Good, Bad and Ugly, 11-15, 15-8, 15-9. In the second round, they defeated the Leftovers, 15-6, 15-1. The semi-final game produced a 15-6, 15-5 victory over Death Volley and this set the stage for the finals. The Setup-Knockers and the Leftovers again met with the Setup-Knockers winning the championship, 15-10, 15-8. Members of the championship Setup-Knockers team were coach Mike Kazmaier, Judy Kazmaier, Chuck Baker, Melody Baker, Jim Huettenmeyer, Carolyn Huettenmeyer, Bette Friel, Herb Baker, Jerry Elphinstone, Carolyn Elphinstone, Rex McSpadden and Sharon McSpadden.

The Leftovers captured a second place finish in the tournament. After an opening round lost to the Setup-Knockers, the Leftovers defeated Volley Hai, 15-5, 15-8; Good, Bad and Ugly, 15-11, 15-11 and Death Volley, 11-15, 15-9, 15-11 to gain the championship game. Members of the Leftover team are Coach Chuck Arns, Tammi Iverson, Shirley Miner, Penny Miller, Tom Arns, Ken Street and Bill James.

Death Volley won third place in the tournament with wins over Volley Hai, 13-5, 15-8, 15-3 and Coordination, Inc., 15-6, 15-1. Members of the Death Volley team are Coach Nancy Anderson, Kathy Fink, Wanda Weber, Diana Rankin, Kevin Tracy, Russ Jackson, Gary Roberts and Charles Masback.

In other games, the Good, Bad and Ugly defeated Coordination, Inc., 15-2, 15-3. Congratulations to the championship Setup-Knockers

We Ask Them. . .

What do you think will be the big news story of 1982?

And They Answered. . .

"The economy. It is going to get worse. It will eventually recover at the end of the year. Interest rates will rise for a while and then drop. Many businesses will fold. Others will go under a drastic change—the auto industry for example."

—Chuck Arns/CMMM

"The crisis in Poland. The military strength and influence of Russia will prevail. The final settlement will be negative for the Polish people, and for the United States."

—John Goodwin/GDGS

"The economy. It effects everyone. A related event is the situation in Poland. If we would become involved it would effect the economy—especially if we become involved militarily."

—Patrick Burneson on/DASC

"The birth of the heir to the English throne—the child of Prince Charles and Lady Diana."

—Ann Mohan/GDP

"How the economy turns out. The effect of the Reagan budget plan and the tax cut."

ASP Meet Jan. 20

The St. Louis Region, American Society of Photogrammetry, will hold a membership meeting and social Jan. 20 in the 2nd Street Dining Hall. The meeting is open to anyone interested in viewing two films on the use of remotely sensed data and discussing the benefits of ASP membership.

Officers and members of the society will be available to answer questions and provide literature on membership. Free snacks will be available and a cash bar will be open.

Current members are encouraged to attend for an informal discussion of ASP/ACSM affiliation following the film showings. Bill Hemple, national vice president, and Jerry Becker, St. Louis Region's national director, will be available, along with officers, committee-chairmen, and members of the St. Louis Region, to discuss affiliation. Anyone having thoughts on the matter of affiliation should present them for discussion.

The film showings will begin at 3:30 p.m. with snack break at 4:30 p.m. and discussion at 5:00 p.m.

Note of Thanks

The following letter was received by the Public Affairs Office. It is a thank-you note to all those who took part in the benefit dance held for Dick Donovan in November.

Dear Friends at DMAAC:

Thank you doesn't sound like much it comes from the bottom of our hearts. I wish there was a way we could thank each and everyone of you in person for such a fantastic Christmas present. We know a lot of time and hard work went into the dance and we really do appreciate it.

Once again, thank you so much and God bless all of you.

Sincerely,
Dick Donovan and Family
