DEFENSE MAPPING AGENCY AEROSPACE CENTER

Vol. XXIV, No. 20

September 24, 1982

Ayers New DMA Top Civilian

Lawrence F. Ayers became the new DMA deputy director, Management and Technology, effective Aug. 23, succeeding Owen W. Williams, who retired from government service.

Major General Richard M. Wells, USA, director of DMA said, "We will miss Obie Williams, but are most fortunate that a professional of Larry Ayers' caliber is ready to step into his post and carry on, particularly during the demanding years that are ahead of us."

General Wells expressed confidence that the agency will meet the challenge of continuing the many vital programs currently underway and of modernizing for the new programs that are essential to the DoD advanced weapons systems.

Ayers, who has been deputy director for Programs, Production and Operations at DMA since 1979, is a native of Washington, D.C., and has been in the field of mapping, charting and geodesy since he completed a tour of active duty as an officer in the Army in 1957. During his first 10 years, he held numerous topographic, geodetic and R&D engineering posts with the U.S. Army Engineer Geodesy, Intelligence and Mapping R&D Agency at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

"All the best" was the message to Owen W. "Obie" Williams (left) from Lawrence F. Ayers, who succeeds him as deputy director, Management and Technology, at the Defense Mapping Agency. Williams retired from DMA's top civilian slot after 37 years of federal service.

New Law Changes Pay, Retirement Systems

A just signed law (H.R. 6955) makes changes in the Civil Service. Highlights of the law indicate changes in the cost-of-living ad-national and international journals, member of the American Society of Federal Pay System, according to sketchy details available at presstime.

Personnel officials, who are rapidly trying to obtain detailed information for distribution to employees, said the new law will impact on such items as cost-of-living adjustments, disability retirement, credit for military service, early retirement, federal pay, and several other items.

In 1968-69 he was program manager, Advanced Systems Development Office, Defense Intelligence Agency, and then spent three years prior to his DMA service as chief, Topographic Sciences Branch, Environmental Sciences Division, Office of the Chief of Staff (R&D), Department of the Army. He was the organizer of the DMA R&D program when the agency was formed and directed these activities until 1974. For the next five years he was the technical director of the Aerospace Center, responsible for the production of DMA data for major weapons systems and force deployments.

Certain Civil Service annuitants would receive less than the full cost-of-living adjustments in the fiscal years 83, 84 and 85. Those affected would be annuitants who are under the age of 62 as of March 1 in each year, and who are not survivors or disability annuitants.

The delay in the effective date of the potential cost-of-living increases will have no effect on the proration of a retiree's or survivor's initial cost-of-living adjustment.

In addition to Civil Service retirees the law also applies to the cost-of-living adjustments for Foreign Service, CIA, and military retirees.

Section 301 of the bill would provide that military retirees (other than those receiving retired pay on the basis of a wartime, service-connected disability) who are employed in civilian positions in the government shall have the amount of any cost-of-living adjustments in their retired pay during fiscal years 83, 84 and 85 deducted from their civilian pay during these three fiscal years.

Section 302 of the law deals with disability retirement and makes several changes. Primary among the changes is the shortening of the test period to see whether a disability annuitant has been restored to earning capacity from two years to one year. The grace period between restoration to earning capacity and termination of the disability annuity would be shortened from one year to six months. The provisions apply to earnings after Dec. 31, 1982.

The section also makes in-Department on federal workers' compensation benefits available where needed to ensure the accuracy of information used in the Civil Service Retirement System.

The new law provides that effective Oct. 1, 1982, annuities of employees and members would commence on the first day of the month after the month in which the employee retires or meets the age and member requirements for a deferred annuity.

Credit for military service is changed under the law. Currently military service may be credited toward civil service annuities but the annuity must be recomputed at age 62 to include credit for any post-1956 military service if the individual is eligible for social security benefits.

Under the new law any employee first hired by the government on or after Oct. 1, 1982, will not be subject to this annuity recomputation at age 62, but will instead receive civil service retirement credit for post-1956 military service only if the employee deposits with the employing agency a sum equal to seven percent of the military basic pay he received for such post-1956 service. Individuals who were first employed by the government before Oct. 1, 1982, will have the option of either continuing under the current law, and having their annuities reduced at age 62, or making the deposit for military service and not undergoing the annuity reduction. The new law would establish a different provision for individuals who have already retired and retirees are encouraged to investigate this reorganization, reduction in force or transfer of function. Under the new law such retirements would be permitted in case of involuntary separations only if the employee has not declined an offer of a position in the agency for which the employee is qualified, which is not lower than two grades below the current position, and which is in the same commuting area. Voluntary early retirement would be permitted only if the major reorganization, reduction in force or transfer of function were going to result in a significant number of employees being separated or immediately reduced in pay. The changes will take effect Oct. 1, 1982.

There are two provisions dealing with federal pay in the new law. First, if the President submits an alternative plan for the October 1982 General Schedule pay adjustment calling for less than a four percent average increase, and if this alternative plan is disapproved by Congress, the pay raise that would result from this disapproval would be limited by section 310 to a four percent increase, rather than the full pay comparability increase that would otherwise result. Second, section 310 would provide that, during fiscal years 1984 and 1985, hourly rates of pay will be computed for General Schedule employees by dividing their annual pay rates by 2,087 rather than 2,080. No change will be made in the computation of basic pay for the purpose of determining Civil Service

Debt Collection Program Begins

In a special letter to all Department of Defense components Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger has outlined a debt collection program which will affect all DoD personnel.

The secretary said, "As part of the government-wide effort to improve collection of debts, federal agencies have cooperated in providing information for interagency computer matches to identify employees who have an outstanding debt owed the federal government. A recent such computer match of the civilian and military payroll records with defaulted student loan accounts disclosed a significant number of DoD personnel.

"The President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency will oversee and monitor this debt collection effort on a government-wide basis. When specific information is provided to the Department of Defense on the results of the computer match, I will expect your full and complete cooperation in actively seeking repayment of each legitimate debt owed the federal government by DoD personnel.

"Meanwhile, please try to advise all who are benefiting from any government loans to keep up their repayments, because any defaults by DoD employees will be dealt with seriously."

The new law amends the provisions of the current law that permit early retirement for employees who are involuntarily separated from the service or who retire voluntarily when their agency is undergoing a major

Civilian Personnel officials will provide employees with more information on the law as soon as the Office of Personnel (OPM) has issued specific information on the revisions resulting from the new law.

CFC Starts Monday

More than 200 employees involved in the Combined Federal Campaign visited benefitting agencies during August and September to learn first-hand how contributions help the community.

Places visited included St. Joseph Institute for the Deaf, the Ferrier Harris and Tower Village homes for the aged, Annie Malone Children's Home, Radio Information Service for the Blind, Family Resource Center, and several others. A sampling of what these employees saw appears on this page.

The employees, who will serve as key workers, managers, and speakers during the campaign, will be able to share their observations when they ask fellow employees for their support during the next four weeks. The campaign begins Monday and continues through Oct. 22.

Project officer Don Smith said the campaign staff hopes to reach better than 90 percent of the Center's employees through a series of rallies in work areas at Second Street and, on Monday, in the auditorium at South Annex.

Employees at South Annex will be permitted to attend one of the auditorium rallies, scheduled for 9, 10, 12:30 and 1:30. Celebrities are expected to speak and a campaign movie will be shown.

At Second Street, employees from the campaign speakers' bureau will give brief talks, followed by a film.

Seventy-two percent of Aerospace Center employees contributed to the CFC last year with an average gift of $66.79. The total of $172,154 surpassed the campaign goal of $160,000.

The 1982 goal has been set at $180,000 because of the greater need in community this year.

"The director wanted an aggressive effort that shows we are aware of the need," Smith commented.

Contributions to the Aerospace Center CFC campaign support the United Way of Greater St. Louis, the National Health Agencies and International Service Agencies. The United Way of Greater St. Louis serves more than 100 human service agencies in the city of St. Louis, St. Charles, Jefferson, Lincoln, Warren and Franklin, and in the Illinois counties of Clinton, St. Clair, Monroe and Randolph.

Federal regulations stipulate that contributions of employees who designate one or more agencies on their pledge cards must be restricted to those agencies.

About one in four residents of the area is served by an agency that receives CFC contributions. Many of these agencies are youth-oriented, such as the Boys' Clubs and Girl Scouts. Others provide child care or services to the elderly, while still others meet special needs caused by disasters, disabilities, sickness and family problems. Although these agencies vitally affect the quality of life in a community, they could not exist without the voluntary contributions of citizens.

Employees in Cancer Study

The Aerospace Center took part in what promises to be an historic cancer prevention study being conducted by the American Cancer Society.

Twenty-five employees contacted by the Directorate of Civilian Personnel earlier this month volunteered to serve as "researchers" by enrolling families of fellow employees and friends in the study.

"If we had asked for more researchers, I'm sure we would have gotten them," Thomas B.

seeks to advance our knowledge of the causes and prevention of cancer. The first cancer study was conducted during the period 1959-1972 and led to the identification of many factors related to cancer development. The landmark Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health was based in part on data from that study.

In addition to the 25 employees contacted by Civilian Personnel, about seven other employees agreed to serve as researchers at the personal request of Creighton.

Consolation Tournament

With a break in the weather, the 1982 DMAAC Consolation Tournament continued with the Jackalopes defeating the Traitors, 9-3 in the final for the Championship. Jackalopes' Lane Mousel and Kyle Fuehrer collected three hits each as both the Jackalopes and Traitors advanced to the DMAAC Championship Tournament. In the semi-final games, the Jackalopes defeated the Bombers, 5-1 behind two-hit performances of Kevin Springer, Steve Leese and Dave Hochstetter. The Traitors eliminated the Thunderbirds, 8-2 behind Randy Hines' three hits.

In quarterfinal games, the Bombers defeated the Assassins, 12-2 with Bombers' Dave Nugent and Mike Dokos' two hits each. In a close game, the Jackalopes defeated the Guided Muscles, 12-11. Jackalopes' Steve Leese collected four hits. The Thunderbirds beat the Bars and Stripes, 10-5. The Thunderbirds' Brian Lewis and George Kroenung had three hits each. The Traitors beat the Buffalo Chips and Master Batters by identical scores of 8-6. Traitors' Ray Staggemeier collected three hits against the Buffalo Chips while teammate Randy Hines had four hits against the Master Batters.

All-Star Games

The first annual DMAAC Men and Women's Softball games resulted in two close games until the 7th inning with one team catching fire to emerge as the winner.

In the Women's All-Star game, the American team composed of Kelley's Girls, Plum Crazy, Spanky's Gang and Babes Ruthless defeated the National team composed of Chips, Rednecks, Basye's Babes and Fool's Gold, 19-7. Wendy Hempel paced the American team with a home run and two singles and was named MVP. Beverly Boykins led the National team with two hits and was named MVP for that team. Steve Godwin was the winning manager.

Going into the 7th inning the Men's All-Star game was 5-2 with the American Conference team winning, but they scored four times in the 7th inning to defeat the National Conference, 9-2. Bob Jones collected three hits and Dave Damschroeder had two home runs for the American Conference team. Bob Jones received the American Conference MVP. Denny Costello received the National Conference MVP. John Liebsch was winning manager.

shutout pitching of Jim Amling paced the win.

Bosley Sees Brother-in-Law Get Fourth Star

Preston Bosley (GDCAA), his wife, and mother-in-law attended the promotion ceremony of Gen. Roscoe Robinson Jr., the first black four-star general in the history of the U.S. Army. Bosley is a brother-in-law of the general, and the general's mother Mrs. Lillie Robinson lives in University City with Bosley and his wife.

Bosley said General Robinson visited at his home shortly before his Aug. 30 promotion. The general at this time invited his mother to fly to Washington with him and his wife for the Pentagon ceremony, which she did. The Bosleys, who drove to Washington, also attended the ceremony and brought the senior Mrs. Robinson home.

A photogrammetric cartographer in the Planning Branch of the Geopositional Data Department, Bosley has been employed at the Aerospace Center since 1955. Another relative of General Robinson employed at the Aerospace Center is personnel staffing specialist Marie Simmons (POPS), a cousin.

General Robinson has left for Brussels, Belgium, to assume his position as U.S. representative to the NATO Military Committee. He is a graduate of West Point and Sumner High School in St. Louis. Before his promotion, he was commanding general of the U.S. Army in Japan.

Seat Belt Campaign Ends

The Scientific Data Department won the award for the largest number of pledges to wear auto seat belts during the Buckle Up - Make It Click campaign that ended on Labor Day.

An award for the highest percentage of personnel making pledges went to the Directorate of Administration, which achieved a 96 percent participation rate.

Other departments and directorates with successful participation rates were Plans and Requirements—78%, Systems and Techniques—70%, Civilian Personnel—64% and Aeronautical Information—55%. Personnel who signed the cards pledged to wear their seat belts throughout the "101 critical days" from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

"We hope once people become comfortable wearing their seat belts during the pledge period, they will make it a lifetime habit," said safety specialist Debbie Mays.

The Aerospace Center as a whole submitted over 1,000 pledges to the National Safety Council. The Council will compare the Center's participation with private industry and other federal agencies.
